4.13: Iteration Plan for Sprint 2
Written By Fahim Arsad Nafis

- There are a total of 124 hours of work. But total available hours for Alexa, Josh, Kat is 105 hours. I have been assigned 6 hours of work. So, in total 13 hours of work won't be possible to assign to anyone. This sprint should be planned again and the product manager should reduce some workload.

- Writing down unit test & acceptance test should be written first before writing source code. It will help to validate and to verify the user requirements more accurately.

- Adding documentation along with developing the source code is a very well known practice. It will definitely help the developers in the long run.